Press Release

The Falmouth Public Library will present a workshop entitled "B. Organized!" on Friday from 3 to 5 PM.

Professional organizer Nicole Gabai discovered many years ago that one of things she enjoys doing most is to create order out of chaos. Whether assisting clients with time management, paper management, or creating the perfect closet, her focus is to help them move from feeling stuck, discouraged, overwhelmed, or afraid of change, to a place of feeling encouraged, hopeful, happier, peaceful, and productive.

Ms. Gabai will discuss "portability." She will address those people who are overwhelmed with the daily amount of information they need to keep organized, such as business cards, appointment reminders, plumbers' phone numbers, play date contacts, store receipts, coupons and slips of paper with valuable data. She will show how to retrieve the information when it is needed.

The workshop will also focus on seemingly huge tasks, such as cleaning out the attic or basement. Depending on the size of the project, the feat may seem daunting, so much so that the job never gets underway. Ms. Gabai will explain how to take the first step.

Registration is required. Contact the reference department at 508-457-2555, extension 6, or e-mail info@falmouthpubliclibrary.org.
